OFFICIAL WINTER AND COLDEST NIGHT ARRIVE SAME TIME

Season Ushered in This Morning at Eight Minutes After 4 O'clock.

MERCURY IS NEAR ZERO

Coincident with the official arrival of winter which event was recorded at 4 08 this morning the lowest temperature of the winter season was recorded last night when the mercury dropped to 12 degrees on the official thermometer. At a number of residences in various parts of the city however, thermometers registered the temperature during early hours this morning at four and six degrees above zero.

The cold snap began to descend yesterday morning and it continued to grow colder throughout the afternoon and evening. There was some snow yesterday afternoon but it did not last long and not sufficient fell to cover the ground.

The forecast this afternoon predicts a rising temperature tonight accompanied by some snow. Warmer weather will follow tomorrow with rain or snow, is the prediction.

The lowest temperature at Perryopolis was reported at four degrees above zero.

No temperatures could be secured from the Indian Creek valley. Telephone lines into that place were reported out of order. A railroader who came in from the mountain district last night said it did not seem much colder there than here, except in the face of the wind.

ARGONNE HERO ATTEMPTS LIFE OLD SWEETHEART

Fred Stell Fires Two Shots Into Miss Anna Ljeet at Mount Pleasant.

BULLET NEAR HIS HEART

Special to The Courier

MOUNT PLEASANT Dec 22—Miss Anna Ljeet 23 years old, a maid at the home of the Misses Warden in Church street is at the Memorial hospital with two bullet wounds one of which is believed to be dangerous, while in another room is Fred Stell, ... years old once a sweetheart of the girl but now ... with a bullet in his chest near the heart the wound inflicted by himself after he had shot the girl.

The shooting took place at 9 45 o'clock last evening in Church street near the United Presbyterian church. No motive has been learned the girl saying she knows of none and Stell refusing to talk.

The girl had been down town shopping and was returning home. A few minutes before the shooting Stell had been in a pool room in Main street above Church street. The presumption is that he followed the girl out Church street.

Three shots were fired. One struck the girl in the neck inflicting a severe wound the other passed through her right arm between the elbow and shoulder. Seemingly Stell aimed at the heart. After shooting the girl and himself Stell staggered across the street and while leaning against a telephone pole broke the revolver, whether with the purpose of reloading or not is unknown. Two shells remained. In the man's pocket were found a number of others.

Rev James L Springer pastor of the United Presbyterian church, was in his home by the church at the time and heard the shot. He was one of the first to reach the scene. He summoned help and assisted in the removal of the two to the hospital.

The Ljeet girl whose home is at Standard Shaft was employed as a maid in the home of the Misses Warden and their brother, John and had been down town shopping with her sister who is a maid in the E. C. Zuck home in the Bank apartments. Annie had left her sister at the corner of Church street and was hurrying to the Warden home on the corner of Church and Walnut streets. It is said no words were exchanged. A number of persons were on the street at the time.

Stell is a son of Mrs Anna Stell of Diamond street. He served as a sergeant in Company E, 110th Infantry, in the World War and distinguished himself for his bravery in the Argonne.

At the hospital Stell refused to give any reason why he shot the girl but admitted doing it. It was said that Stell had been staying in Ohio for some time, only recently returning and that while there he had been married. He was before he left town a member of the Company E football team and a good athlete.

The girl said that a long time ago Stell had paid attention to her but not for some time and that she had lost track of him.

Stell used a 32 calibre army revolver which was recovered and has been turned over to the police. He was better known by his nickname of Zudik Stell.

THE PASSING SHOW READY TO BE STAGED

Everything is in readiness for the Passing Show to be staged in the high school auditorium Wednesday and Thursday evenings, December 28 and 29. The revue will consist of six acts, following a brief prologue before the curtain rises.

"The Old Fashioned Garden" will be an extremely pretty scene. It will be staged by Miss Blanche Dowling, assisted by Misses Charlotte Jarvis, Lillian Franks, Virginia Ginsbu and Janice Miller, Mary Hoffman and Deane Carson.

"The Boogie Man Rag" is a peppy chorus led by Miss Sarah Williams. The chorus consists of Misses Mary Thompson, Charlotte Tovey, Anna Mae Pompleton, Geraldine Finchcoy, Sarah Yahler, Margaret Jean Lang, Phyllis Albrecht and Eleanor Beighley.

Some very pretty solo dances will be featured by Misses Roxanne Pryce, Mary Elizabeth Clark, Ruth Clark and Lois Mae Llewellyn.

"The Country Club Cabaret" a pretty feature in which eleven girls are led by Miss Gertrude Hess, Miss Blanche Dowling and Mr. W. A. O'Brien. The chorus is composed of Misses Jean Patterson, Leona Floto, Ruth Miller, Loraine Hallock, Elizabeth Keller and Van Allen, Messrs. Crutchley, Bryte, McCartney, Horewitz, Miller, Bosley, Moody and Lyon.

The jazz number in which the overall girls star is made up of Misses Mae Heavner, Mary Allen, Susan Lyon, Rosella Gujan, Sarah Yahler, Edna Christy, Margaret Berror, Edith Franks, Gladys Albrecht, Mary Haney and Eloise Bosley.

The high school boys with their usual "pep" will be evidenced in a chorus number led by Mr. Irwin Crutchley, assisted by Messrs. Edward Clark, Joe Donadio, J. D. Brown, James O'Hara, Brown Hilbee, John Bryte, Kenneth Cunningham, Hurley Hellen and Ralph Gallo.

The kiddies act which is led by Misses Rose Mary Brown and Virginia Duggan is indeed very clever and attractive. Misses Katherine O'Hara, Rose Mary Brown, Evelyn Donadio, Virginia Duggan and Eleanor Donadio also take part in a little song special-ty.

There is no doubt but what the Spanish dancers will be a big hit of the evening. In this dance Misses Mary Hoffman, Lillian Franks, Blanche Dowling and Janice Miller will be featured.

Don't fail to see Miss Healy and Mr. Mood, in their "Room to Rent" dance and song specialty. It's keen and if you want to see something really funny just come and see Mr. Bufano pose as a Jew. He has a treat in store for you.

Several solos will be rendered by Mr. M. W. Riale and Mr. Duncan of Dunbar.

Then comes the nineteen act which in itself is worth the price of admission. The minstrel is made up of the best actors the town affords and they are good. Mr. John I. Bush will act as interlocutor and Messrs. Moody, I. Duncan, Mayfield, Miller, Davis and M. Davis as end men. Solos will be sung by Mr. Moody, "Way" by Mr. Duncan, "Sunny Tennessee" by Mr. Mayfield, "Kentucky Blues," and by Mr. Moody, "Nobody's Darling."

The closing act will be four piece clerical see-saws which will be a beautiful scene. The cabaret cast is also featured in this act.

This week will finish up all rehearsals and the dress rehearsal will be Tuesday evening in the high school auditorium at 8 o'clock.

The musical revue is being given under the auspices of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Tickets have been distributed and reports show that the sale is good.

The show will begin promptly at 8:15 o'clock. The reserved seat sale for both nights will begin Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock at C. Roy Hetzel's Drug store. All tickets must be reserved, free of charge.

Rehearsals tonight will be held in the Carnegie library.—Advertisement 22-1t

Henry Watterson, Noted Editor, Is Called by Death

Henry Watterson became a recognized authority in the Democratic party, although for many years he had to contend against the prejudices of a great majority of his party associates.

With the Free Silver idea Colonel Watterson had no sympathy. He was in Switzerland when the convention in 1893 nominated William Jennings Bryan upon a free silver platform. His famous epitaph, "No compromise with dishonor," confirmed Mr. Haldeman, owner of the "Courier-Journal," to oppose Bryan during the following campaign.

Mr. Watterson was a rather erratic worker. He was capable of hard and long work when he was necessary, but at other times he worked only when the spirit moved him, devoting his leisure time to lecturing, traveling or recreation. In 1867 he married Rebecca Ewing, eldest daughter of Andrew Ewing, member of Congress from Tennessee, with whom he had three sons and two daughters. Among his literary works are a history of the Spanish-American War, a book on Lincoln, "The Compromises of Life," and many lectures and addresses.

Missed a Cash Sale.

A clerk, who also delivers goods, is coming in for a lot of kidding about the following experience he had one afternoon recently.

A woman customer not very hefty as to pay, called up and asked that a suit of underwear be sent to her house forthwith. The clerk did up the package, but before he left he received instructions from the boss to get the cash for the goods. Arriving at the home, he banged in the package and told the woman the amount of cash he required.

"If I have to pay cash I'll know that they fit," she snapped back, then went into a room adjoining.

"And would you believe it," the clerk said, "that woman kept me waiting in the hot sun for half an hour. Then she came back and said curtly 'I don't want them. They are too short and clingy.'"

A Real Boom Would Bury the Railroads, Says Pennsy Official

The question of making provision for a large increase in the volume of railroad transportation service, which, he said, probably would be required in a few years, overshadows everything else in the railroad situation in its fundamental importance, in the opinion of Elisha Lee, vice-president of the Pennsylvania System. It is even more vital, he declared, than a reduction in freight rates, which, "despite the many readjustments that have been made, are still generally too high for the nation's commerce to support indefinitely."

In expressing these views in an address at the annual banquet of the Association of Manufacturers in Philadelphia, Mr. Lee said the next time the country has a real revival in business, we shall, in all probability, be confronted with the most severe congestion of the railroad traffic and the greatest railroad facilities ever experienced. When that happens, he added, rates will be lost sight of.

"If we should have even a moderate revival of business, say, next fall, which is entirely possible, even if not especially indicated at the present time, there is every reason to believe that we would experience a marked freight congestion. It would not be necessary to have a boom; just a restoration of plain prosperity would give our railroads more business than they could handle with anything like factory promptness and efficiency. A real boom would bury them. Nothing could more quickly check a wave of prosperity than the inability of our railroads to handle the traffic which good times would create."

Mr. Lee said the greatest obstacle in the way of bringing about a readjustment of wages, not only in the railroads, but elsewhere, was excessively high rents and unreasonable retail prices. "All profiteering still going on," he declared, "ought to be stopped at once by the united force of public opinion."

CLAIRTON PLANT

Will Be Largest By-Product Installation in the World.

Plans are nearly completed for six additional batteries of by-product coke ovens to be erected at the Clairton works of the Carnegie Steel company. It is expected work will be commenced early in January, 1922. The new ovens will be built on the 1,800x5,200 ft. site on which the 12 batteries now in operation were erected in 1918 and 1919.

The original plans of the Clairton works called for a total of 21 batteries of 64 ovens each. With the addition of the six new batteries, the plant will have a total of eighteen batteries, or 1,152 ovens, with a capacity of 4,500,000 net tons of coke annually. The Clairton ovens constitute the largest by-product coke in the world.

$214,339,385 PAID RAILWAY EMPLOYES IN WAGES IN JULY

During First Seven Months of the Year Total Was $1,671,349,536.

AVE. PER MO. $148-$290

The railroads of the United States had 1,559,872 employes in July, 1921, to whom they paid in wages $214,339,385, according to statistics just compiled by the Interstate Commerce Commission and based on reports from the carriers. This compensation was 59.1 per cent of the operating expenses of the railroads for that month.

The compensation statistics for July are the first to be compiled under the new rules governing the classification of steam railway employes effective on July 1 last and for that reason comparisons with previous statistics are difficult. They also are the first to be compiled since the 12 per cent reduction in wages ordered by the Railroad Labor Board went into effect.

The total number of employes in July can, however, be compared with 1,591,322 in January; 1,576,543 in February; 1,583,068 in March; 1,542,716 in April; 1,575,599 in May and 1,586,144 in June.

During the first seven months of this year according to the Interstate Commerce Commission statistics, the railroads paid their employes $1,671,349,536 in wages which was 61.3 per cent of the total operating expenses for that period.

In July, according to the commission, the carriers paid out $12,039,154 in overtime compensation. Of this amount $5,439,168 went to trainmen and enginemen engaged in the transportation service. Of the remaining $6,599,986, a total of $3,871,610 was paid as punitive overtime.

The average earnings in July per man of some of the classes of employes, as given by the Interstate Commerce Commission, follow:

Masons, bricklayers, plasterers and plumbers, $149; general foremen and supervising inspectors, signal, telegraph and electrical transmission, $238; signalmen and signal maintainers, $160; general foremen, $200; gang foremen and gang leaders, skilled labor, $217; blacksmiths, $148; boilermakers, $162; carmen, $154; electrical workers, $170; machinists, $149; sheet-metal workers, $157; chief train dispatchers, train dispatchers and train directors, $256; station agents, supervisory — major stations, $211; yardmasters and assistants, $253; road passenger conductors, $233; road freight conductors, local and way freight, $218; road passenger engineers and motormen, $250; road freight engineers and motormen, local and way freight, $251.

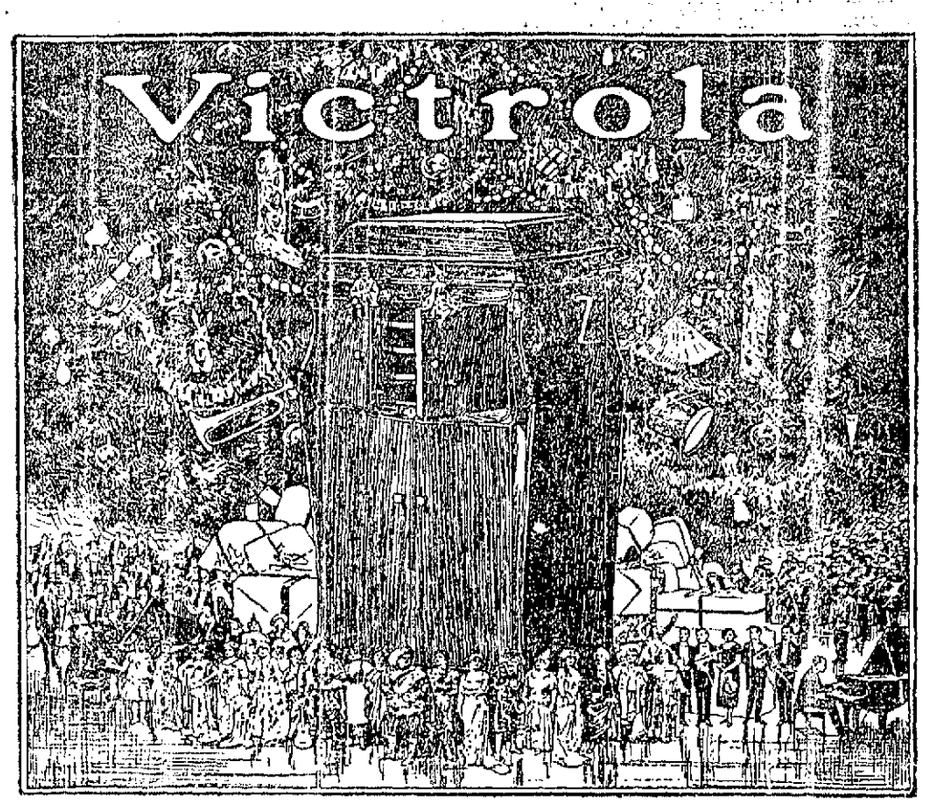

To Stop Coughing at Night.

When anyone is suffering from a bronchial affliction or has a cough that lingers on and grows worse at night, the loss of sleep tends to weaken the sufferer and grows more serious the longer it is neglected. Mrs. M. Suter, 647 Longbrook Avenue, Stratford, Conn., writes: "Foley's Honey and Tar has given me great relief from a severe attack of bronchitis." THURSDAY EVE'G, DEC. 22, 1921.

RESTRICTING IMMIGRATION.

The country has spoken so plainly to Congress on the matter of applying restrictions to our immigration laws that that body dare not refuse to heed the mandate that has been given.

In reaching the conclusion that the time has arrived when there must be intelligent and discriminating care exercised in admitting newcomers to our shores, the people of the United States have not been influenced by racial, sectional or national hatreds of any kind. But they have become convinced that certain classes of persons, no matter to what race they may belong or from what country they may come, would be undesirable additions to our population, hence should be excluded.

This attitude implies no abandonment of the historic principle which accords the right of asylum in this country to those who are subjects of political or religious oppression or persecution abroad. It does mean, however, that the United States must close its doors to those whose lives and antecedents have stamped them as the enemies of all government and who would come here to propagate their revolutionary theories instead of becoming law-abiding and useful citizens. Events and incidents during the World War proved conclusively that we already have too many of this class to whom we extended an open hand of welcome only to have our hospitality abused, our laws disobeyed and the authority of the government flouted. Against the admission of such we have every right to close the door, and the country has demanded that Congress act accordingly.

Further, there are very cogent reasons why, at this time, it would be unwise to relax our immigration laws to such an extent that the influx would be appreciably increased over the existing rate. We have made comparatively little progress, although much has been done, in the Americanization of the persons of foreign birth who are already resident in our country. To throw the gates wide open to the millions in Europe who would eagerly seize upon the first opportunity to sail for the United States, would retard the work of making new citizens and so add to the problem of unemployment that a solution would be next to impossible.

Europe has the greater need at this time for every citizen to devote his strength, energies and skill to replacing the losses incident to the war and to growing the crops and food products needed by its people, than the United States has for any increase in the number of its workers. We have done our full share in helping the war-torn countries of Europe begin their recovery from the paralyzing shocks of the war and are still ready to extend any form of aid that may yet be needed, but it will not help Europe to rebuild the wastes of war, nor will it help the United States to return to the conditions of peace time, to have our shores flooded with immigrants to whom no employment could be given and who would be without resources to sustain themselves.

If change is made in the existing immigration law, which was made effective for one year from last spring as a temporary measure, it should be in the direction of making the principle of rigid restriction permanent.

OUR FIRST COMMUNITY TREE.

The first community Christmas tree in Connellsville will not be provided under precisely the same circumstances as the tree at Dunbar, but it is intended to serve the same worthy and commendable purpose of promoting the Christmas spirit among the people of our city and vicinity. Everybody should, therefore, do all and everything necessary to insure the success of the enterprise.

We are altogether too much disposed at Christmas time to be selfish in our enjoyment of the occasion. We confine our attention almost entirely to the circle of our immediate friends without taking time to assist in making the season joyous for those whom we do not include in the list of our acquaintances notwithstanding we may know that they will have a more or less cheerless Christmas.

The community tree will afford an opportunity to more widely diffuse the Christmas spirit and for the distribution of gifts to children who would otherwise be without a Santa Claus this year. If nothing more is accomplished by it the tree will more than justify the expense, time and labor needed in erecting and decorating it.

But it will do more. It will provide an occasion for inaugurating in Connellsville the delightful and appropriate custom of singing Christmas carols which, in earlier years and in other communities has given a new charm and emphasized the meaning of the Christmas season.

The exercises at the tree on Sunday evening should attract a large crowd of people. Merely to witness the scene and to hear music which has become inseparably associated with Christmastide should be an inspiration to every person, not alone to strengthen the desire to make Christmas of 1921 the most memorable in their lives, but to absorb so much of its spirit that it will abide with them throughout the coming year.

Making the community tree a success this year will mean that we will never afterward wish to be without it.

By his highly considerate treatment of women and children that Chicago bandit, which held up passengers on the B. & O. flyer, No. 6, gave an example some railroad employes might follow with increased comfort and pleasure to patrons.

The attendance record at the public schools closely rivals that of the Sunday schools which have not abandoned the time-honored custom of a Christmas treat.

There will probably be no present for you on the community Christmas tree but you will show yourself a poor member of the community if you are not present to witness the inauguration of what will doubtless prove to be a very happy occasion and, let us hope, a permanent custom in Connellsville.

You may not have personal knowledge of a family that is without preparations to receive Santa Claus. Leave that to the Salvation Army but first hand to its officers a bill or check in a substantial amount.

It is still proper to seal your Christmas mail with a Christmas seal.

MATCH CHRISTMAS DINNER WITH GIFT TO THE STARVING

Is Plea Being Made on Behalf of Millions of Children in Stricken Russia.

FAMINE WORST IN WORLD

NEW YORK, Dec. 22—"For every Christmas dinner a gift of equal value for the starving children of Russia," is the Christmas and New Year plea made by the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America.

This appeal is going to 125,000 congregations throughout the country. The famine is said to be the worst in the world. Herbert Hoover, chairman of the American Relief Administration, called on the Federal Council of Churches for help and as a result it has issued a nation-wide Christmas and New Year's appeal for funds.

As a result of the imperative need the Federal Council makes six suggestions to the Christians of America, as follows.

First, that at some time during the hours of public worship on Christmas Sunday, December 25, prayer be made to God and entreaty to the souls of men, for an enlarged compassion in our own hearts, and for peace and justice and good-will among men.

Second, that in the Sunday school on that day there be a Christmas service in behalf of which the children of stricken Russia shall be remembered.

Third, that at these services offerings from young and old be received, which shall not be a mere interchange of gifts between ourselves, but a great expression of Christ-like unselfishness.

Fourth, that to every Christmas-tree gatherings such gifts be brought.

Fifth, that at the family altar of every Christian home on Christmas day gifts be made equal in value to those given in the family circle—a home for a home.

Sixth, that for every Christmas dinner a gift of equal value be made for the starving children of Russia.

Former Governor Carl E. Milliken of Maine is treasurer of the fund, his headquarters being the Federal Council of Churches, 105 East 22nd street, New York City, though funds may be given through the local churches.

All funds received will be put to work through the American Relief Administration and the American Friends Service Committee.

Intimidation in Picketing During Strikes Unlawful

Can Be Properly Enjoined, Says United States Supreme Court in Decision by Chief Justice Taft.

In the final disposition of the action of the American Steel Foundries of Granite City, Ill., against the Tri-City Trades Council, to enjoin members of the latter from picketing during a strike, the United States Supreme Court has decided that when picketing becomes intimidation of persons who desire to work it is unlawful and may be properly enjoined as such.

The opinion of the court was delivered by Chief Justice Taft who said in part:

"In going to and from work, men have a right to as free a passage without obstruction as the streets afford, consistent with the right of others to enjoy the same privilege. We are a social people and the accosting of one by another in an inoffensive way and an offer by the one to communicate and discuss information with a view to influencing the other's action are not regarded as aggression or a violation of the other's rights. If however, the offer is declined, as it may rightfully be, then importunity and dogging become unjustifiable annoyance and obstruction which is likely soon to savor of intimidation. The nearer this is to the place of business, the greater the interference with the business, and especially with the property right of access of the employer.

"In the present case, under the conditions which the evidence discloses, all information tendered, all arguments advanced and all persuasion used were intimidation—they could not be otherwise. It is idle to talk of peaceful communication in such a place and under such conditions. The numbers of the pickets in the groups constituted intimidation. The name 'picket' indicated a militant purpose, inconsistent with peaceable persuasion. The employes were made to run the gauntlet.

"Our conclusion is that picketing thus instituted is unlawful and can not be peaceable and may be properly enjoined by the specific term of 'picketing,' because its meaning is clearly understood in the sphere of the controversy by those who are parties to it.

"We think that the strikers and their sympathizers should be limited to one representative for each point of ingress and egress in the plant or place of business and that all others be enjoined from congregating or loitering at the plant or in the neighboring streets by which access is had to the plant, that such representative should have the right of observation, communication and persuasion but with special admonition that their communication, arguments and appeals shall not be abusive, libelous or threatening, and that they shall not approach individuals together but singly.

"This is not laid down as a rigid rule, but only as one which should apply to this case under the circumstances disclosed by the evidence and which may be varied in other cases."

Robbers Get 75 Cents.

Peter Carotti, a local shoemaker, reported to the police last night that he had been held up and robbed by two masked men at his Meadow lane shop. They secured 75 cents, he said, he having given his wife a large sum only a short time before the men entered his place.

Just Folks

Edgar A. Guest.

THE HUMBLE FRIENDSHIPS.

When trouble comes and our skies grow gray
What we really need is the friendly way
Of the kindly people who understand,
And not the manners of people grand.
The simple ways of the folks we know,
With their gentle speech and the words that flow
Right out of their hearts, mean more to us
Than style or fashion or pomp and fuss.

The ones who stick to us, thick or thin,
Are the simple people who just drop in,
The friends who love us and never care,
That old and worn is the garb we wear
The friends who live as we live, and know
The self-same hurt and the self-same woe,
Are the ones who comfort us through and through
With the words they say and the deeds they do

Oh, I know it for us it much worth while
To win from the famous a fleeting smile
Or a passing nod. But in days of pain,
Then style and fashion, and pomp are vain
The gentle folks we have known for years
Are the ones who comfort and dry our tears
For the simple speech and a friendly way
That we all must have when our skies are gray

OUTPUT OF BEEHIVE COKE AT 110,000 TONS; COAL AT APRIL LEVEL

Latter 7,235,000 Tons Week December 10 Against 12,813,000 Tons Same Week Last Year.

Production of beehive coke in the United States has been practically constant of late at around 110 000 tons a week says the Geological Survey in its weekly report The total output in the week ended December 10 is estimated at 111,000 tons as against 111 000 tons in the week preceding

Cumulative productions stands at 5 160 000 tons or but 26 per cent of that for 1920

The production by states compared with the corresponding week of 1920 was as follows

	1921	1920
Pennsylvania and Ohio	83 000	293 000
West Virginia	5 000	20 000
Alabama Tennessee and Georgia	6 000	20 000
Virginia and Kentucky	6 000	18 000
Colorado Oklahoma and New Mexico	2 0 0	11 000
Washington and Utah	3 000	6 000
U S Total	111 000	374 000

Although soft coal production is normally at a maximum at this season, it has in fact dropped back to the level of last April normally the lowest month of the year For two weeks in succession production has hung around 1 200 000 tons per day whereas the smallest daily output in any December of the preceding eight years was 1 379 000 tons

The total output during the week of December 10 including lignite and coal coked is estimated at 7 235 000 net tons, as against 7 104 000 tons in the week preceding A year ago production was 12 813 000 tons

In connection with this abnormal production two facts should be remembered The first is that the movement of coal up the Lakes has now virtually ceased The second is that during October with a railroad strike in prospect consumers hastened to increase their stocks and some millions of tons flowed into storage At present the flow is out of storage, for 7 200 000 tons a week is not sufficient to meet current consumption and export Clearly if it were continued for long the draft on stocks might carry reserves below the danger point

On November 1 commercial consumers had a reserve of approximately 4 000 000 tons or 16 000 000 tons less than the maximum in storage at the end of the war At present consumption is exceeding production

Coal Exports Decline.

For the 10 month period ending October 31 coal exports amounted to 406 672 as compared with 6 731 173 tons in 1920

Cost of Coal Stripping.

The Bureau of Mines has undertaken an inquiry into the present cost of steam shovels used in coal stripping operations

State Lays Down Rules as To High School Facilities in East Huntington Township

Special to The Courier

SCOTTDALE Dec 22 Relative to the inadequate high school facilities in East Huntington township and the agitation for a new and modern high school building to replace the old antiquated one at Alverton the Department of Public Instruction at Harrisburg has made the following rulings

That the district must either maintain its own high school complete or unite with an adjoining district in building and maintaining a senior high school and maintain its own junior high school

The department will not approve additions to the old building nor allow a new building erected on present site Four acres are required

If the township sends the students to an adjoining district both tuition and transportation must be paid

Should the district have a [illegible] provide room for students [illegible] sending districts can not take [illegible] their students without [illegible] new building

If a new building is erected and equipped the department will allow the district to use the old high school building for certain grades of junior high school class work thereby relieving the district of the financial expense of providing extra room to relieve present crowded schools in the grade schools

The proposition is not a matter of choice with the local district but a necessity to furnish adequate accommodation for high school work for boys and girls of the district to meet the requirements of the department

Great Crowd Expected at Benefit Boxing Show on Monday Afternoon, 26th

With the announcement that Frankie Welty of Latrobe would appear in a 10-round milling contest with K. O. Circus, a number of right fans of the county determined they were going to aid the Salvation Army by attending the boxing show of the Fayette Athletic club on Christmas afternoon, one-third of the proceeds of which will go to charity.

Welty is known to attendants of the local bouts. He has twice appeared in the ring opposite Johnny Pollock of Dawson and the scraps have been the best ever presented. Welty is a mixer and knows how to handle his fists.

K. O. Circus is a ringster known throughout sportdom. He has rightfully won his "K. O." title and is a dangerous opponent at any time. It is the first time Circus has been in Connellsville in years. He is in constant demand for shows elsewhere and demanded a big price from Matchmaker Harry for Monday afternoon.

Johnny Fundy, another popular fighter with local followers of the sport, will appear in the semi-final. His opponent has not been secured but he will be a man who will make Fundy extend himself.

In the preliminary Ernest "Dummy" Hough of Broad Ford will meet Julie Schlinger who disposed of Mike Pasquale of Dunbar via the knockout route here recently.

A feature attraction will be a "battle royal" with five or six husky negroes pummeling each other in the ring. Joe Cafferty of Scottdale will referee all bouts.

CASEY TEAM LOSES TO ST. VINCENT'S

The Casey club "hit the skids" again last night when the St. Vincent college basketball team defeated the outfit 18-13. The score is an unusually low one for the Casey outfit to register. The game was fast throughout.

J. Riley for the college quintet scored three pretty shots from the middle of the floor, those being just sufficient to bring his team to victory.

FIREMEN LOSE GAME TO RAILROAD CLERKS

The Connellsville Firemen lost to the Baltimore & Ohio Clerks last night in a game played on the West Side. The score was 38-26. Hume for the Clerks and "Ham" Gallagher for the firemen were the heavy scorers, getting eight and six baskets respectively. At the end of the first half the score was 15-12 for the Clerks.

Failure to keep the visitors closely guarded in the second period cost the firemen the game. Gallagher made five of his six goals in the last half and O'Brien made the only other goal during that period for the firemen.

The railroad team carried two new faces in its lineup, they being Hume and Zima. The score:

Clerks—38.		Firemen—26.
Evans	F	Feher
Hume	F	Gallagher
Snell	C	O'Brien
Hannigan	G	Clapp
Zima	G	Giffin

Field goals—Hume, 8; Gallagher, 6; Evans, 4; Feher, 3; O'Brien, 2; Hannigan, 2; Snell.

Foul goals—Feher, 4 out of 9; Hume, 8 out of 12.

Referee—Fisher.

A benefit game, the proceeds of which will go to Ray Addis, injured member of the Fayette Baking company team, will be played at the Baltimore & Ohio Y. M. C. A. tomorrow night. The Connellsville Firemen team will oppose the Bakers. The firemen believe they will give the dough kneaders a run for honors. It had been planned to have the high school team play this game but because of a ruling by the W. P. I. A. league, members of teams in that circuit may not engage in basketball games outside of the school schedule.

The Capstan Glass gymnasium will be opened tomorrow night when the Baltimore & Ohio Clerks play the glass makers on their own floor.

CHRONIC JUMPER WINS SUIT

David Jimmy Hickman Given Verdict of $12 Weekly Against Outlaw Club at Oil City.

David Jimmy Hickman, chronic baseball jumper, has won a suit against the Oil City (Pa.) outlaw club under the Pennsylvania workman's compensation law. He broke a leg or something at the opening of the season and Oil City dropped him from the pay roll. Under the verdict he is awarded $12 a week from May 17 to November 8.

GEORGIA TECH ASKS GAME

Athletic authorities of Georgia Tech, through Senator Harris of Georgia, have made preliminary overtures for a home-and-home series of football games between the elevens of the Naval academy and Georgia Tech, starting next fall, with a game at Atlanta. Senator Harris on behalf of the Georgia Tech authorities has taken up the matter informally with athletic directors at Annapolis. He was told to submit a definite proposal in writing and it would be considered. The proposal contemplates a two-year series, the game in 1922 to be played at Atlanta, and the 1923 contest at Annapolis.

FACTS ABOUT YALE BOWL

Here are some interesting facts about the Yale bowl.

There are 64,025 permanent seats; with temporary seats the total capacity is 70,057.

The bowl is 933 feet long and 744 feet wide, outside to outside. The playing field is 500 feet long and 300 feet wide.

It covers 12½ acres and the distance around the outside is about a half mile.

There are about 23 miles of permanent seats.

The bowl has been so constructed that in the afternoon neither team has the sun in its eyes, an annoying fault on most fields.

The bowl was constructed with half of its sloping side below the level of the outside ground. The playing field is 27 feet below, and the top of the stand 27 feet above the outside ground level.

FOOTBALL GREATS INTUITIVELY KNOW WHAT TO DO, SAYS JONES

Tad Jones, Head Coach of Yale Gridiron Squad.

Ted Jones, head coach of Yale's football eleven, has evolved one fact out of his years of football experience:

Football players—that is the really great ones—are born, not made. A man may have courage, speed and grit, and yet he will be only a mediocre football player, unless he is blessed with a certain natural ability which might be called football sense.

"I have played with and against many men and I have trained many others, but I have always noticed that the stars were the men who instinctively know what to do.

Instinct Directs Them.

"They are the men who race through a broken field for a touchdown, making their way according to no set formula, but only as instinct directs them.

"The star of the prep school is generally a star at college. The sooner a boy begins to play football, the better chances he has of developing natural ability. A boy is never too young to learn at least the rudiments of the game. A few knocks will only help him to stand the harder bumps later on in life.

"Football is the greatest game there is. It is probably the most scientific game played today. Development of the game has been very rapid and in some ways it has not been for the best.

Spread Their Formations.

"Some coaches have a tendency to spread their formation all over the field, hoping that something lucky may happen to permit them to score. This ought to be limited.

A team should win because it has a well balanced attack, based on sound football together with an adequate defense.

"A good running attack with the use of a few razzle dazzle plays should form the basis of any winning team."

Recovery Follows Slump Production; Furnace and Merchant Ovens Share it

Plants of the Former Make the Greater Gain of 6,000 Tons Out of 8,920.

REMOVAL OF WAR TAX

On Transportation One of Year-End Factors Tending to Slow Down the Placing of Orders, Particularly for Coal; 1922 Will Bring Higher Prices

From The Weekly Courier

A recovery in coke production following the slump which was limited to the merchant ovens during the week ended December 10 took place last week in which both operating interests shared. As has been the rule for a number of weeks past the furnace producers continued to lead both in the rate of gain and to an tonnage but the merchant ovens swelled their output by practically the same amount that it had been decreased during the immediately preceding week.

As expressed in figures the gain of last week was 8,9.0 tons the proportion contributed by the furnace ovens having been 6,000 tons and by the merchants 2,920 tons. The furnace gain was 2,708 tons less than during the week of December 10; the merchant gain of 2,920 tons was contrasted with a loss of 2,940 tons a week earlier.

The showing of the week is somewhat anomalous in view of the conditions in the trade. There has been no appreciable increase in demand although small orders have been filtering through and a few producers have been making somewhat larger shipments on expiring contracts. To the seasonal dullness incident to the Holidays and taking of the year end inventories, there is added another factor about which the general public has thought comparatively little as an influence in the direction of slowing down orders involving freight shipments.

On and after January 1 the war tax imposed on transportation by wartime legislation will be removed. In the aggregate this has required the payment of millions of dollars by shippers. Whether or no it has been passed on to the consumer in higher prices matters less at least at this time than does the knowledge that within 10 days neither consignor nor consignee will have to pay it. The removal of the tax being in effect, but not actually, a decrease in transportation charges there is a disposition to avoid paying more than is absolutely necessary during the short time preceding the effective date of its elimination.

Apparently the coal trade is feeling the effects of the several conditions just noted more severely than the coke trade. A large part of the coke shipments are on contracts hence will go forward without much regard to the relief that will come from removal of the war tax on transportation. The bulk of the coal trade such as remains, being of the spot character, there is more hesitation about placing orders for shipment before the end of the year. The mild winter has retarded the coal business to a greater extent than it has slowed down coke except that there has been a somewhat indifferent demand for heating coke as compared with previous years.

As the year draws to a close without any developments likely to have an adverse effect on business and industry, the coke producers are a little more hopeful than they were some time ago that not long after the advent of the new year more life will be infused into things in general and they will benefit in proportion to the renewal of activity. Their expectations are moderate, however, and the coke makers will be more satisfied with a slow and steady expansion than they would be with an abnormal increase which might later disappear as suddenly as it came. Of one thing they feel assured though that is that the price of coke is going to be better next year than the recent rate of spot prices.

The estimated production of coke during the week ending Saturday December 17, was 97,830 tons credited to the two districts as follows: Connellsville, 85,360 a gain of 3,980 tons; Lower Connellsville 12,470 a gain of 4,940 tons, or a total gain of 8,920 tons as compared with a net gain of 5,810 tons during the preceding week.

By interests the production was: Furnace 62,80 an increase of 6,000 tons, merchant 35,050 an increase of 2,9.0 tons as compared with a gain of 8,783 and a loss of 2,940 tons respectively during the week ended December 10.

There were 20 ovens added to the active list, 5 at furnace and 15 at merchant plants. The changes in detail were 15 out at Filbert No. 2, 10 Clarissa, two at Donald No. 1 and 2, 25 in at Redstone, 60 at Nellie, 10 at Searight and 10 at Geneva.

Definition of a Strike and When It Ends to Be Settled

Such questions as what constitutes a strike and when does it terminate will be referred by the State Industrial Board to an industrial relations committee which is to be shortly provided by that branch of the Department of Labor and Industry.

Connelley, in announcing the plan at the conclusion of the board meeting said the committee would be representative of employers, employes and members of the state wide organization directly interested in industrial affairs. To it will be referred several questions which have been before the board, such as strike definitions, seasonal employment and various safety matters.

NO PRESENT PLAN TO PENALIZE MINES FOR STREAM POLLUTION

Announces Chairman of Congressional Committee in Charge of Bills.

COAL MEN WILL BE HEARD

If Scope Is Enlarged to Include Mine Drainage; Present Measure Confines Restrictions to Oil Waste Discharged From Oil-Burning Vessels.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20—In its investigations into the pollution of streams, being made by the Rivers and Harbors Committee of the House in relation to two bills now before Congress, the chairman of the committee has declared that there is no present intention to include waste water from mines in the restrictions, the principal object of the measures being to eliminate the discharge waste oil from oil-burning vessels because of the damage done to fish and the fire menace it creates.

This announcement was made at a hearing of the committee at which J. D. A. Morrow, vice-president of the National Coal Association, appeared as a witness.

"It does seem to me that any legislation of this kind would affect the discharge into the streams of material of any kind, refuse or other kinds of material that is harmful," said the chairman of the committee to Mr. Morrow.

"I do not think you need to discuss it on the basis of the discharge from mines that is not harmful," he added. "What is not harmful I do not believe will be dealt with in any legislation that will be suggested. I do not think any legislation will be adopted which will make it criminal or will penalize the discharge into streams of anything except what is harmful."

Mr. Morrow stated that up to the time the bill was proposed it had been the general understanding of mining engineers and of public health authorities, so far as the question has been studied, that the presence of mine waters in the streams was not deleterious to the public health but on the contrary, was beneficial.

Mr. Morrow said that there are thousands of abandoned coal mines in Pennsylvania and northern West Virginia that are discharging highly acid waters into the streams.

"I think that will continue," he said. "I do not believe, from the information that I have that it will ever be practicable to stop the discharge of water from those old workings and so far as that water goes in there you would have an acid discharge. If the presence of the acid in these streams is objectionable from the standpoint of infection or from other standpoints, it will have to be dealt with after it is in the river because it is inconceivable to me that you will try to dam up the groundwater in that territory of Pennsylvania and northern West Virginia with a surface structure broken up by cave-ins and by old mines, as it is now. When you consider that it covers a area of 150 miles long by 200 miles wide you can get some idea of the practical difficulties that would be faced."

The witness presented a letter from William T. Rial, a councilman of Greensburg, Pa., calling attention to the fact that the State Board of Health of Pennsylvania permits the dumping of city sewage into the streams where the streams are impregnated with acidulous water. If this bill introduced by Representative Rosebloom should be enacted, said Mr. Morrow, these places would immediately have to put in a city sewage disposal plant in the interest of public health.

Representative Wells Goodykoontz of West Virginia, in whose district lie the Williamson field, the Logan territory, Mullins field and the Pocahontas regions, appeared to urge that the proposed legislation be not made to apply to coal mine waste. He stated that West Virginia had a law that prohibited the entrance of sawdust and other wastes into its waters, but later found that it had an adverse effect on its industrial life serving little or no good because paper making, coal mining and other like industries exceeded in importance the fishing and farming industries, and the law was repealed.

Congressman Strong of Pennsylvania, a member of the committee, made the request that, before the committee takes any action in reference to this matter, because of the magnitude of the coal industry, it being the largest basic industry in the country, it set aside a day for a hearing for the representatives of the coal industry. This request will be granted, but the indications now are that the industry be specifically exempted, will prevail.

Would Do in Transportation Before and After the War.

At the Theatres

THE SOISSON.

"A MESSAGE FROM MARS," the attraction at this theatre the remainder of the week, presents Bert Lytell, the popular Metro star, in the stellar role. There is hardly a screen admirer who has not seen Mr. Lytell before. But if there be one who has not seen him, this opportunity should not be missed. "A Message From Mars" was adopted from the successful stage play by Richard Ganthoney. On the screen it gains an added lustre and beauty, for here the possibilities for showing the action over a large space are increased. The story deals with the regeneration from selfishness of a wealthy young Englishman, who takes everything for granted and puts everything in its subservient place, his fiances included. She leaves him finally, and everything is tottering around him when a sudden conversion of soul at the sight of suffering humanity brings him to the right goal. This due to a messenger from Mars condemned to haunt the most selfish man on earth. The effective supporting cast includes Ray Dean, Maud Milton, Alphonz Ethier, Gordon Ash, Leonard Mudie, Mary Louise Beaton, Frank Currier and George Spink. It is a Maxwell Karger production for Metro.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"LUCKY CARSON"—is being shown today. It is a story in which Earle Williams is starred, and it furnishes a role in which he did some real dramatic work. He first appeared as a down-and-outer. After having made a fortune on a race track, and dropped it there, he is seen on the docks at London ready to end it all in the cold, black waters of the Thames. Then he changes his mind and starts afresh. An accident in a London fog opens up the way to a new life in America. He arrives in New York, scrapes up an acquaintance with a stander-by, who is down and out, and following the lead of this youth, picks up another fortune on the race track. This time he saves his money and plunges into the market cornering cotton. Then a page of his past life is opened again, and the man whom he had wronged when he left England, becomes his enemy. Carson tries to make up for the past, but the man, whose sole desire is an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth, demands his pound of flesh. A charming love story is interwoven in the plot. Betty Ross Clarke, a well known leading woman, plays opposite Mr. Williams, and does some exceptionally fine work. Friday and Saturday, "Guilty Conscience," will be shown.

THE ORPHEUM.

"THE HOME STRETCH" presents Douglas MacLean, Paramount star, in the leading role. Members of the sporting fraternity who enthuse at the sight of a thoroughbred racehorse and who, in a period now almost gone, have thrilled at the hair-raising finish of a great metropolitan handicap, will revel in the many spectacular racing scenes which feature "The Home Stretch." The tense moments of waiting for the start, and the murmuring shout of "They're off!" the stirring finish and the feverish excitement of the betting ring will reawaken glorious memories of the days when Belmont Park, Latonia, Saratoga Springs, Ascot and Emeryville were the worshipping shrines of the disciples of chance. The horses which take part in the racing scenes, and which are seen at close quarters in the track paddock prior to the races, constitute the pick of the American turf. All of them were stabled at Tia Juana, Lower California, during the winter season, and all were pedigreed thoroughbreds. "Honeyblossom," the equine hero of the story, was secured from the most famous stock farm in the West, and has many times flashed under the finishing wire the winner.

Friday and Saturday Shirley Mason will be seen in "Mother Heart."

ART IS TAUGHT IN SCHOOLS

French Pupils First Learn to Draw, Then They Carry Out Ideas by Arranging Folds of the Material.

More women than ever are making their own clothes. Some are doing it single-handed. Some are calling in the assistance of an experienced home dressmaker. And some are accomplishing the feat with the aid of a seamstress.

This means, writes a Paris fashion correspondent in the New York Times, that women are becoming more certain of what they really want in the way of clothes. They no longer are content to walk into a shop with a half-hearted air and but a slender knowledge of just what they are looking for and take whatever pleases their fancy at the moment. They are picking and choosing.

It also means that women are getting some idea of style and beauty as related to their own persons and are insisting upon clothes appropriate to their individualities.

The present trends and cuts are easy to handle on a home dressmaking basis and are not too intricate to be made by amateurs with the needle. But most women are not so amateurish and many without natural gifts for sewing are going to dressmaking schools. These schools teach the art of dressmaking and dress cutting and draping with a technique and perfection that is pleasing to contemplate. They turn out a competent dressmaker in from two to six months.

There is one school recently established by the French museum which is teaching dressmaking in a most interesting way. The pupils are first taught to draw. They start in by sketching the designs of one period and are given pencil and paper to work out in detail the sort of garment which shows their idea of the designs of that period applied to the usages and restrictions of the present day.

Necessary to Visualize.

When this idea was put forward, there were many objections. Those untutored in drawing never would be able to handle work of this sort and, besides, they were coming to learn draping and stitchery, not drawing, it was said. But the heads of the school insisted that unless learners were able to visualize what they were about to undertake they would be working in the dark, which could not lead to artistic results. They ignored the fact that it usually is the custom to have specialists do the drawing and went to work with their first class. It was surprising the way that the drawing instinct came into evidence as soon as the class caught the spirit. They produced interesting things at once.

The next step was to set them to work with a dummy figure and some cheese cloth and unbleached muslin to carry out the ideas they had sketched on paper. Experienced teachers told them how to arrange the folds and so on. Then they took up other periods, pursuing the same process of study, visualizing and accomplishment. At intervals those learned in the theory of art as applied to clothes were called in to give lectures to the class so that their general education on the subject as a whole should not be neglected. They were instructed in all of the ideals of French dressmaking, which has gained so eminent a place for itself in the history of the world. In other words, they were given a chance to assimilate an all-around, developed point of view instead of being permitted to cramp themselves into one small corner of the art of dressmaking.

These classes are still going on. They are attracting women from many walks of life—those who wish to become expert designers and those who are merely studying the idea for their own sake.

The pattern idea has been rounded out to such a fine point that, with one of these tissue paper marvels in her hand, a woman with little or no experience and a moderate amount of common sense can make for herself something of which she has no reason to feel ashamed. The pattern idea is good, but the individual idea of carrying out a woman's own designs is infinitely beyond that and women, as a rule, are beginning to see that, along these lines, there is a lot of fun to be had which many of them have missed.

A French woman will shop for material with a knowledge and an eye for quality that does one's heart good. She knows what she wants and she gets it. Then she will work tirelessly until she obtains the result she is after. And she does this between times. She flies to it for a relief from boresome occupations. Every French woman has something of this art. That is why they have such fine things to wear—because even if they do not actually do the work themselves, they have the knowledge that would enable them to do it.

Women in America who are branching out in dressmaking have many opportunities to help at their elbows other than the tested and true pattern services. In some of the department stores schools of dressmaking are being put into operation—where any woman can go, buy her materials and, for a nominal sum, enter the school for enough lessons to turn out that dress a finished product. She can do what she wants with it, having an experienced teacher at her elbow every minute to tell her when she is going wrong and to lead her when she reaches that point of bewilderment which every inexperienced person confronts in the first of making a costume.

Practical and Popular.

This plan is so practical as it is popular. And it is a short cut to the finished product, for no time is wasted in theoretical education. One gets right down to brass tacks and actually has one's dress ready for the next party.

Some of the department stores even go so far as to have a series of lectures on home dressmaking. Women are showing that they really want to learn about these things. And they are interested enough to go further—to undertake their own dressmaking in a professional spirit.

Many of the most successful dresses that one sees these days are made on the simplest lines. An afternoon dress is made of heavy canton crepe and cut perfectly square. That is the material is folded over at the shoulder line. At the waist a slit is made and the material then falls away in a natural drapery at the side. What looks like a flounce at that point is only the remainder of the square falling as it pleases. The drapery on the waist under the sleeves is accomplished in the same manner. Then the edges all the way around the frock are picoted. There is scarcely any work about the thing.

One-Piece Dress Is Liked.

The one-piece dress of tweed or thick woolen material of some other sort—even of twill—has become extremely popular this season. With a cape to match, it is about the smartest thing that one could wish to find. A full-figure design illustrates a frock of that type which can easily be made at home. It is cut over the chemise model with a little extra fullness over the hips, bound with cire braid to accentuate its lines, and also to finish its edges in the most efficient way. Heavy material of this kind is too thick to stand hemming, so the restriction, by means of the braid binding, is converted into a possibility of decoration.

An interesting blouse of Russian type is made with full sleeves and gathered neckline. Its design grew out of the popular, big sleeved influence seen in all of the newer things. It makes a waist to wear with the tweed suit when one grows tired of the regular tailored variety. Besides, some women do not look well in the tailored blouse. They want something softer and fuller in line and still suitable for wear with that very sporting sort of suit.

NEW CAPSTAN GYM WILL BE OPENED ON FRIDAY NIGHT

Glass Men's Floor Team Will Meet Baltimore & Ohio Clerks.

DANCE TO FOLLOW GAME

SOUTH CONNELLSVILLE, Dec. 22. The Capstan Athletic association will open its new gymnasium tomorrow night with a basketball game and a dance. The committees have been working hard to make this opening night a success. The gym floor has been scraped, varnished and waxed and is without doubt one of the best dancing floors in this vicinity. The decoration committee has been working hard and one will hardly be able to tell that he is in a basketball hall. The color scheme is maroon and white.

The game will be one of the fastest seen this year; that is if the Baltimore & Ohio Clerks don't fall down on the job, as head coach, John Moore declared that his team will "wipe them off of the face of the earth." The Capstan team has been practicing regularly all this week and off and on during the two previous weeks. In a practice game with the American Legion, Capstan defeated the service men by the decisive score of 47-16. Capstan has a foul shooter in Moorman who makes on an average of 12 out of 15 fouls. There will be seats enough to accommodate 105 persons. The game will start at 8 o'clock.

After the game those who care to can stay for the dance. The music committee, composed of Albert Nochese, Glazier Burkhardt and Albert Griffiths, has secured the services of Evans-Mulac orchestra for the dance. A new $500 piano which the C. A. A. recently purchased arrived yesterday and will be used. During intermission of the dance, the "tin lily" will be given away to the "lucky" person who holds the right ticket.

No definite schedule has been worked out for the C. A. A. basketball team but one will be started on next week.

STEEL MARKETS ARE QUIET AS ALWAYS AT THIS SEASON

Prices of Tubular Goods Reduced Considerably; Other Lines Generally Are Unchanged in Price.

Special to The Weekly Courier.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21—The American Metal Market and Daily Iron & Steel Report will review the steel and iron trade tomorrow as follows:

The finished steel markets generally are quiet, reflecting the holiday condition and the fact that inventories are soon to be taken. For once at least the steel trade is able to assign a reason for its dullness that is fully supported by all the experience of the past, for the latter part of December has invariably been a dull period in steel.

Under date of December 15 the National Tube company issued new price lists on standard pipe, oil country goods and line pipe, effecting reductions of $5 to $6 a ton from lists of September 16. The action was in response to continued shading by independents and in standard pipe, on which most of the independents had 60-day guarantees outstanding, the reduction went quite beyond the average of the cutting.

The development in tubular goods furnished the exception that tests the rule, steel prices in general having been practically stationary of late, with a light demand as the probable cause. In tubular goods there had been quite heavy demand, resulting in a present operation of pipe mills at from 60 to 80 per cent of capacity.

The American Metal Market's composite finished steel now stands at 2.21c against an average of 1.72c in 1913, giving it an index number based on 1913 as 100, of 128. The Bureau of Labor's index numbers for November, published this week, show on this basis 149 for commodities as a whole, 186 for cloths and clothing as well as fuel and lighting, 197 for building materials and 218 for housefurnishing goods, while farm products stand at 114. Thus steel is well below a parity with commodities in general.

The first six months of the new year are likely to show conditions in steel not greatly dissimilar from those of the past three or four months, since liquidation of stocks in buyers' hands was largely completed.
